INDEX

TO THE

FIRST VOLUME

OF THE

Weekly Entertainer.

A.

AMERICA, account of its boundaries, 305.

Anagrams, 212, 236, 260, 403,—Answers to, 355, 378.

Anecdote of William III. 39. of an advocate of Straſbourg, 40. a remarkable, 61. of human villainy, 62. a humourous, 68. of a divine, 91. of the wit and the chimney ſweeper, 114. of Mr. Hogarth, 136, 616. of a univerſity at Northampton, 138. of Mr. C. Yorke, ibid. of a ſetting bitch, 185. of the Ruſſians, 208. of a ſailor, 233. of the marquis of St. Clair, 280. of the Pharo-table, 299. of the uſe of red hot balls, 305. of Dr. Younger, 375. of archbiſhop Moore, 377. of Cherilus, a Greek poet, 400. of the origin of the title of Dauphin, 401. of an eminent foreign phyſician, ibid. of a ſmart reply of a lady to her admirer, 401. of the method of preſerving freſh meat, 425. of the ſuperſtition of the Ruſſian clergy, 471. of Monſ. Caſtrict, 497. of Sir Hugh Ackland, of Devonſhire, 508. of Henry Howarth, Eſq; 518. of Dr. Goldſmith, 519. of the duke of Portland, 520. of Guſtavus Adolphus, ibid. of the duke of Rutland, 545. of an Iriſh peer, ibid. of the inhabitants of Courtiſou, 546. of the duke de Fitz-James, 569. of an Eaſt India governor, ibid. of the prince of Wales, 570. of clergymen, 546, 570. of a witty French writer, 518. of the pariſh of Worldham, 594. of lord Townſhend, 618. of Mr. Powell, ibid.

Anecdotes, curious, and curſory reflections, 11. of eminent perſons, 63. of the burgher-maſter Tominick, 64. of Sir Stephen Fox, 135. curious anecdotes, remarkable cuſtoms, &c. in Ruſſia, 158. of Muley Iſhmael, 169. of the court of Bruſſels, 231. of the celebrated Ignatius Sancho, 241. of the battle of Malplaquet, 250. of the family of Mr. Locke, 257. of a raſh Engliſhman, 281. of Dr. Burney, 316. of Dr. William Hunter, 348. of the Czar Peter, 444. of prince Menzikoff, 447. of his preſent majeſty, 449 of the earl of Tyrconnel, ibid. of Charles XII. of Sweden, 466. of the faſhionable dreſſes now in vogue at Dublin, 473. of Mr. Robert Simpſon, 497. medical, 514.

Annual bill of diſeaſes and caſualties, 41.

Bankruptcies,

B.

Bankruptcies, on fashionable, 337.
Brutes, on the memory of, 577.

C.

Cabbage, method of preserving, 424.
Cape of Good Hope, description of, 203.
Catholic confession of faith, twelve articles of a, 587.
Celinda and Aristobulus, history of, 57.
Characters from Cecilia, 155.
——— of lord Bacon, the Hon. Robert Boyle, Mr. Locke, and Sir Isaac Newton, 610.
Coquet, the incorrigible, 320.
Corn, observations on grown or sprouted, 553.
Coverham-abbey, description of, 65.
Curtis, Sir Roger, memoirs of, 73.

D.

Dancing, dress, &c. observations on, 389.
Dartmouth East Indiaman, account of the loss of the, 229.
Debts, state of the public, by lord Stair, 1.

E.

Eliott, memoirs of general, 49. his speech to the garrison at Gibraltar, 615.
English princes and barons, their hospitality in the 13th and 14th centuries, 232.
Enigmas, 22, 44, 45, 68, 69, 93, 116, 117, 163, 188, 189, 211, 212, 236, 237, 259, 260, 284, 285, 308, 309, 332, 333, 356, 357, 380, 381, 404, 405, 428, 429, 452, 475, 500, 501, 524, 525, 548, 549, 573, 596, 621.—Answers to, 162, 211, 282, 283, 306, 307, 330, 331, 355, 378, 402, 426, 451, 474, 498, 522, 523, 546, 571, 572.
Epitaph, an obscure, 401.
European languages, character of the principal, 329.

F.

Fables, literary, 567.
Farmers, hint to, 617.
Franklin, account of Dr. 481.
Freedom, account of the order of, about to be instituted in America, 233.

G.

Ganges and Burrampooter rivers, account of, 75.
Genevans, account of their proposed emigration to Ireland, 433.
Gordon, lord George, heads of a conversation between him and lord Petrie, 414.
Government, extracts on, 278, 353.

H.

Hand bill, a curious, 209.
Hare hunting, description of, 113.
Hector, captain Bourchier's narrative of the loss of that ship, 225.
Heidegger, account of the ingenious Mr. 193.
Henry V. on his example, 289.
——— the Great, of France, account of, 409, 438, 461.
Human happiness, reflections on, 17.
Humanity to brutes, on, 181.

I.

Imprudent daughter, the, 345, 365.
Indolence, on its meanness and malignity, 276.
Inglefield, captain, of the Centaur, narrative of the miraculous escape of him and his pinnace crew, 181.
Inscription on a sign, a curious, 358.

J.

Jealous husband, the, 175, 179.
Julia, or the imprudent daughter, 540, 556, 581, 606.

K.

Kalmuck Tartars, account of the, 469.
Kempenfelt, admiral, monument erected to, 397.
Kent's Hole, account of, 422.
King's birth-day, account of the company, dresses, &c. at St. James's on that occasion, 662.
Knights of St. Patrick, account of their installation, 313.
Knox, John, his character, 252.

L.

Letters from the count de Vergennis to General Washington, and from lady Afgill to the count de Vergennis, 178. from a guardian to his ward, and from a tutor to his pupil, with the pupil's answer, 609.

Life,

Life, on entrance into, by Mr. Knox, 217.
Litchfield cathedral, account of, 161.
Literature, view of Engliſh, 25.
M.
Macgennis trial of Dr. for the murder of Mr. Hardy, 83.
Maritime power of England, origin and uſe of the, 361.
Maſquerade intelligence, 529.
Maxims, uſeful, 326.
Meſſina, account of the dreadful earthquake which happened there on the 5th of February, 1783, 297, 343, 377.
Methea, account of the harbour of, the whirlpool of Charybdis, the convents, and the feaſt of Vara, 300.
Miſery, a tale, 130.
Muſical battle, 593.
N.
Nantucket, deſcription of, 243.
O.
Officers of the Britiſh army, ironical advice to the, 97.
Ourſelves, on the knowledge of, 566.
P.
Paradox, a, 500, 572.—Anſwers to, 620.
Peep into the Houſe of Commons, 621.
People of Great Britain, addreſs to the, 126. 149.
Pignero, ſingular account of, 318.
Pitt, Mr. William, his vindication of the peace, 392.
Politeneſs, difference between true and falſe, 255.
Profeſſion, any uſeful one proved to be infinitely better than a thouſand patrons, 371.
Q.
Quadrille, political, or the national card players, 112.
Quakers, their yearly epiſtle, 611.
Queen's birth-day, account of the company at St. James's on that occaſion, 105.
Queries, 20, 21, 44, 572.—Anſwers to, 281, 306.
Queſtions, 19, 20, 44, 67, 68, 92, 115, 140, 163, 186, 187, 211, 236, 259, 308, 331, 332, 356, 378, 379, 380, 403, 404, 426, 427, 452, 474, 499, 524, 547, 548, 572, 596, 620.—Anſwers to, 139, 140, 210, 259, 282, 283, 330, 354, 355, 402, 450, 473, 498, 522, 570, 595, 619.
R.
Rebuſſes, 45, 61, 93, 115, 189, 236, 260, 285, 331.—Anſwers to, 186, 259, 283, 307, 330, 403, 452, 524.
Reflections, 17, 376.
Religion, view of its progreſs in Britain, 108.
Remark, a, by Mr. Jewel, of Bideford, 18. Anſwers to it, 234, 235.
Richlieu, character of cardinal, 341.
Riddle, a, 93.
Rodney, memoirs of lord, 145.
S.
Salt, the art of making, 54.
Scurvy, radical cure for, 304.
Sermon, preached by an old miniſter to three highwaymen, 137.
Soldier, the, a tale, 485.
Solitude and company, on, 533.
Spalding, Mr. account of, the improver of the diving bell, 590.
Spring, reflections on the, 495.
Story, an affecting, 248, a true, 306.
Stuarts, account of the unfortunate race of the, 521.
Suicide, eſſay on, 505.
Summer, or a deſcription of the amuſements of London, 492.
Sumptuary laws publiſhed in Denmark, 221.
Surprize, the, a tale, 292.
T.
Taxes, produce of ſome of the new, 425.
Tea, account of its firſt introduction into England, and its conſequent expences to the nation, 209.
Temperance and ſobriety, on, 457.
Trouin, memoirs of M. du Guay, 269.
Truth and diſſimulation, important difference between, 472.
Truth, an eſſay on, 551.
Tutor's account of the family in which he was engaged, and his pupil's courſe of ſtudies, 5, 34.
U.
Unfortunate lovers, or the hiſtory of Fidelio and Panthea, 265.
Unhappy widow, the, 398.

V.

Vanity inſcribed on all things, 304.

Verſes: An ode on Chriſtmas day, by the reverend Mr. Weſtby. 23. lines addreſſed to Miſs Margaret M——n, of Briſtol, 24. ode for the new year, 46. in memory of Rachel, the wife of Dr. Harrington, of Saliſbury, 47. on gaming, 48. on humility, ibid. winter proſpects in the country, an epiſtle, by Mr. Scott, 70. the conſultation, 71. ode to pity, ibid. an epigram, 72. written extempore in the chamber where Eraſmus was born, 94, on biſhop Wilſon, 95. an ode, by Mr. Scott, 96. imitation of the firſt ode of Anacreon, 118. addreſſed to a beautiful lady who deſired the author to write her epitaph, ibid. the hermit a fable, 119. a poetical epiſtle by Mr. Iſaac Hawkins Brown to himſelf, 141. on the peace, 144. the ſhipwreck, an elegiac poem, by Mr. Hart, 165. an invocation, 168. on the ratification of the peace, 184. ode to peace, 190. Strephon's complaint, by Damon, of Exeter, 191. an invitation from a gentleman in the country to his friend at Bath, 192. ode written in winter, by Mr. Scott, 214. extempore on Miſs Suſan G——'s kiſſing the neck of the author's black mare, 215. addreſs to the evening ſtar, ibid. receipt to make a perfect beauty, 216. addreſs to ſleep, ibid. William and Margaret, by Mr. Mallet, 238. epigram on Quin and Foote, 240 the apple-pye, an heroic comic poem, 262. extempore on viewing Hayes-Place, in Kent, the ſeat of the honourable William Pitt, 264. a ſong, written by the celebrated Mr. Handel, ibid. ode to rural felicity, 256. epitaph on the reverend Evan Lloyd, by Mr. Wilkes, 258. epitaph on a philoſopher, ibid. a pun on Young's Night Thoughts, ibid. the eagle and dove, a fable, 310. on the death of Mr. Butler, of Wellington, Somerſet, 311. on the death of Mr. Pinchbeck, 312. epitaph on Colman Mendez, Eſq; by Mr. James Thomſon, 312. addreſſed to Andrew D—w—y, Eſq; of Briſtol, ibid. a burleſque on ſmoaking, by J. Geſt, 334. curious grant of William the Conqueror, 335. a ſonnet, tranſlated from the Italian, ibid. on the force of prejudice, by Mr. Hayley, 336. elegant deſcription of maternal care and tenderneſs, written by Mr. Hayley, and addreſſed to his own mother, 358. the tulip and violet, a fable, 359. an Italian ſonnet tranſlated, 360. hymn to fortitude, by Dr. Blacklock, 382, 406. on love, ibid. on ſelf-conceit, 408. ode to May, 430. hymn to the morning, 431. elegy on a tallow-candle, 434. on life, ibid. the power of love, 454 on repreſentation, 455. on the death of the marquis of Rockingham, 456. on the repulſe of the French and Spaniards at Gibraltar, ibid. in praiſe of the city of London, 478. intended for a lady's tombſtone, ibid. the peace, a viſion, 502. addreſs to the fair ſex, by T. P. Weſtcott, of Martock, 503. lines on the immortal Milton, 504. epigrams, 524, 528, 600. charms of the ſpring, 526. on the marriage of an amiable young lady, 527. the court dance, 528. on good nature, 550. on wedded love 552. ode for his majeſty's birth day, 574. addreſs to Ireland, by the reverend Mr. Maurice, 575. ſoliloquy on a ſpring morning, 576. the ſeaſons, by William Brown, ibid. kind advice to the happy ſhepherd, by the reverend John Ball, 598. on ſenſibility, 600. the ſcare crow, a fable, 622.

Vice, progreſs of, a moral tale, 80.

W.

Waſte lands in England, hints for their improvement, 201.

Watſon, biſhop, his plan for rendering more equal the revenues of the biſhops, and thoſe of the inferior clergy, 385.

Y.

Yeaſt or barm, receipt to make, 594.

V

A

R

A

C U

INGE

SH